HONGKONG, MARCH 26TH, 1889.

TEE rumour to which our Yokohama morning contemporary recently gave currency to the effect that a new Treaty had been signed between Japan and the United States is borne out by the papers received by the American mail. The Sin Francisco Bulletin publishes the following telegram, which, although not an official statement, may be taken as pretty strong corroboration of what has evidently leaked out at Tokyo:-

Washington, 16th February.—It is stated at the State Department that Minister Hubbard has about concluded a treaty of smity and commerce with Japan. This is regarded as an important achievement, as Japan has been under the tutelage of Germany, France, Great Britain, and Russia, who have discouraged any independent dealings with other powers. Secretary Bayard some time ago negotiated an Extradition Treaty with Japan, which was the first independent treaty the Japanese Government had ever concluded, and his efforts have been steadily directed toward securing entire freedom for Japan from the control of European Powers and the establishment of closer relations with this country. Whether the achievement is as important as the sapient writer seems to imagine is, however, quite another matter. Like the Treaty negotiated in 1978 by Secretary Evants, the new Convention will probably remain a dead letter until the work of Treaty revision is completed, with other Powers. Article X. the greatest families of the country, and it is an of that Treaty contained the following at pu- open secret that she has at times her voice in cotting of American goods in China. He is des-Intion :- "The present Convention shall take effect when Japan shall have concluded King, the Crown Prince, and the Queen have such Conventions or Revisions of existing each their separate households. If the reported new Treaty There is a report at Poking, for the accuracy contains a similar clause to the foregoing, the of which we (Shin-pao) cannot vouch, that Japanese Government will bavelittle to thank the United States for. Americanstates men are a states man of such experience would be of much rather noted for making concessions on paper which cannot be carried into effect. As the frishman said when he sheared the pig, it is that, to prevent wasting the public funds, it great cry and little wool. If the Government of the United States really wish treat Japan on the same footing as Western Powers let them do so by all means, but not go on making Treaties which while professing troffic, as since the foundation of the Dynasty $400,000,000, but this statement has never been to be exceedingly liberal are contingent on the concession of the same terms by other Powers. For our part we should be ve I pleased to see the British Government cut themselves adrift from the compact with other Powers so far as Japan is concerned. when the time is ripe, for there is no doubt the British Minister is seriously hampered by the conflicting interests and opinions of the other Fereign Ministers. We are not advocating a leap in the dark, or the attempt to outbid other nations for Japanese favour. Rules of H.B.M. But it is to be hoped that no British Minister will ever demean himself by making a treaty avowedly liberal, but which is nullified by being made dependent on the action of States it professes to ignore. Lastmakes a mistake-which is only worth noting perhaps as showing the want of accuracy in many such statements - when he says that Secretary BAYARD regetiated the Extradi. tion Treaty with Japan. LONDON, 17th February. A Herald correspondent had a long and interesting interview with Henry Le Caron, the military spy. Three gentlemen rose as the correspondent entered the well-inraished apart-man, who bowed with dignity, and said in a! quick, nervous way: "I am Major Le Caron; will you be seated?"

If ever there was a man whose manner, face, and voice indicated decision of observator, it is his skin bas a dry, drawn look; almost like parch. ment, and his eyes are small and set close together under a high forebend. Their sharp black, piercing gaze seemed to penetrate straight nto one. He is of a wiry, muscular build, lightly over the medium hightand, both in tone and gesture, seemingly more like a shrewd Yantee than on Englishman. There is nothing tolid about Major Lo Caron, nor is he contructed on the reast beef order. He was enreloped from head to foot in a comfortable norning gown of thickly-padded silk, and while peaking peffed away at a series of cigars as he seed the room. His memory is marrellous, either dates, names, nor details escaping him. HIS YOUTHFUL ESCAPADES.

Beginning with his youthful escapades, when e robbed his sister's missionary box of penuies nd fled to France, he deliberately traced his life p to the present time. He denied the story of outing in the Anderson cavalry, stating that, hourb he was a member of the Philadelphia ompany which really did revolt General Negey's appeal induced him, with a few others, to reurn to duty. The first information he gave of he Fenian organization was sent in a letter to his ather at Colchester shortly after forming the riendship of O'Brien. His father showed the tter to a member of Parliament, who consulted as Government, and soon after an arrangement as entered into for the secret work, which he as done ever since. He congratulates himself oon having kept the Government closely advised the plans of the Canadian raid, and having terwards defeated Fenian as well as other Irish ovements.

State Senator C. Bacon of Illinois, who was in charge at the spital, knows me and my record, and I appeal him to say whether my denial of these shamecharges is not true.

"I would like to say a word here in connection th the political influence of the Irish patriotic rty in the United States. I consider that inence a most serious matter. There is no estion that distinguished American statesmen ve gravely compromised the dignity of the nited States by catering to the votes of this ge class of population and by tacitly if not only supporting that class in their unlawful i ontrageous conspirsoy against the English vernment. I know that when the dynamite BATION evention was held in Chicago in June, 1881. ndon read a letter signed by James A. Garid, in which that statesman expressed the fullest mpathy with the cause we were working for, d it was virtually understood that that letter Garfield's insured for the organization the pport of the Administration. CONCERNING PARNELL

I will tell you briefly what I think of Mr.

rnell. There can be no question that up to time of his imprisonment in 1381 he was exdingly revolutionary in his ideas, believing in st extreme measures against the English Goenment; but iron had a singularly happy effect moderating his views. Since that time I do believe he has deliberately encouraged any the ontrages which have been committed by followers. In the case of the Phoenix Park rders, I do believe that this dreadful crime ght have been prevented had Mr. Parnell own proper viguance and discretion. I do not leve him to have been aware of the intention commit this crime, much less to have encoured it, but I have positive and unquestionable ans of knowing that his most intimate isers were both cognizant of and parties those murders. You ask me how I as to the moral aspect of my I say, without hesitation, I feel that I done my duty as a man who loved his ntry dearly, and unscrupnlonely did what could to save it. I consider myself a milipy, and my conduct justifiable under the e ethical considerations which justify all itary spies. As to danger in the future, prepared for anything that may happen. e done what I thought right to do, and I will r the consequences. Where I shall go, and t measures I shall take to protect myself just assassins, are subjects on which I have

WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Angle-Chinese Dictionary, published at Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The tyrraphy FONG, PHOTOGRAPHER displays the success of an attempt 'ske the Has just added to his COLLECTION Chinese and English type correspond in the size of VIEWS some NEW SCENES and Photos. of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of of NATIVE TYPES, copies of which are obtainable space, achieving a clearness not previously [attained, and dispensing with those vast margins IVORY MINIATURES of Superior Quality and | and vacant spaces which have heretofore charac-ENLIRGEMENTS of Photos, and Views and To illustrate the vast scope of the work the reproductions of the same on Paper, Canyas, or following facts are submitted for consideration:-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who Estimates free fer all kinds of Electrical work | understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives 11629 themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted.
